

Docker and Containerization

Page 1

Docker is a platform for developing, shipping, and running applications in containers. Containers package applications with all their dependencies, ensuring consistent behavior across different environments.

Benefits of Docker

Page 2

Docker provides portability, scalability, and isolation for applications.

It enables faster deployment and better resource utilization.

Containers are lightweight compared to virtual machines.